

AREIAC ONLINE CONFERENCE:

19 March 2026
13.00-18.00

TOWARDS A CONSENSUS: ENSURING SPACE FOR DIVERSE VOICES IN A NATIONAL CURRICULUM FOR RE

This event brings together educators, scholars and advocates to discuss how we shape a Religious Education curriculum that reflects the diversity of worldviews and personal identity in contemporary society. Through thought-provoking contributions and collaborative discussions, we'll explore the importance of breadth in the curriculum, how media platforms are widening engagement, and learn from innovative local projects.

The important place of anti-racist RE in a future national curriculum

Learning from local voices projects

RVE through the lens of cynefin: identity-driven insights from the curriculum for Wales

In conversation - a place for breadth in the curriculum

Freedom of Religion or Belief (FORB) in the curriculum

Using media to access diverse voices

Krystian McInnis, Shammi Rahman

Gillian Georgiou, Ruth Marx

Jennifer Harding-Richards

Luke Donnellan, Bel Twiggs, Jamie Woodhouse
Humanism, Paganisms, Sentientism

Josh Cass

Louisa Jane Smith (The RE Podcast), Saima Saleh, The Missing Link Podcast, TrueTube

Booking

Free for AREIAC members - Book here:
<https://forms.gle/FRgzPiw6BUbH4VmN7>

£50 for non-members - Book here:
<https://tinyurl.com/yx3zstsk>